

Health Equity Webinar Series

Pathway to Community Health Leadership: Promoting Equity and Social Justice

In partnership with Loyola University Chicago Neiswanger Institute for Bioethics and 100 Million Healthier Lives, this special webinar series seeks to spread the success of community leaders in transforming lives with health equity solutions. Community leaders will share strategies to promote health equity as we build a national support system for community leaders and facilitate opportunities for engagement with academic and institutional researchers in cross-sector coalitions.

Wednesday, May 24th, 2017
11:00am – 12:30pm CST

Featured Speaker: Al Richmond, MSW
Executive Director, Community-Campus Partnerships for Health

Community-Campus Partnerships for Health is a national non-profit organization founded in 1997; they promote health equity and social justice through partnerships between communities and academic institutions.

Richmond has over 25 years of experience in a career that has uniquely blended social work and public health to address racial and ethnic disparities. As a founding member and past chair of the Community Based Public Health Caucus and the National Community Based Organization Network – both affiliated with the American Public Health Association (APHA) – he helped to foster effective partnerships focused on community-identified health concerns and to increase the number of community leaders actively involved in APHA.

Session Objectives:

- Share strategies used by CCPH to leverage the knowledge, wisdom and experience in communities to solve pressing health, social, environmental and economic challenges.
- Discuss ways to ensure community-driven social change is central to the work of community-academic partnerships.
