

SAVE THE DATE!

R_x for Empowered Communication

Women in Academic Healthcare Conference

Faculty and Staff Professional & Personal Development

Friday, March 8, 2019

Noon to 7:00 p.m.

Loyola University Chicago Health Sciences Division

Center for Translational Research and Education (CTRE)

Keynote speaker: Neha Sangwan, MD, CEO and Founder of Intuitive Intelligence, Inc.

Dr. Sangwan is an Internal Medicine physician, international speaker, author and executive healthcare coach who focuses on empowering individuals, organizational leaders, and their teams with tools for clear, effective communication.

All Healthcare Providers, Faculty, Researchers, Administrators, Staff:

Join Dr. Sangwan for a complimentary, interactive, dynamic and customized afternoon workshop to develop practical tools that address key issues women encounter in clinical, academic and administrative settings. Physician, nursing and social work continuing education credit will be provided. All registered participants will receive Dr. Sangwan's book, TalkRx: Five Steps To Honest Conversations that Create Connection, Health and Happiness, and her accompanying TalkRx Journal at the reception. Conference details to follow.

A complete list of conference support will be provided to participants.

Hosted by:

Steve A. N. Goldstein, MD, PhD

Dean, Stritch School of Medicine Loyola University Chicago