Message from the Vice Dean for Research, Stritch School of Medicine

Nominations Now Open for Stritch Scientists of the Year Awards for 2018

Dear Colleagues,

The Stritch School of Medicine Dean’s Office is accepting nominations for the 2018 Scientists of the Year Awards now through September 21, 2018. The nomination form can be found at http://hsd.luc.edu/research_services/content/stalbertsday/. Completed forms should be sent to Maria Pelc at mpelc@luc.edu.

Eligibility
Assistant professors are eligible for the Junior Scientist Award. Associate and full professors are eligible for the Senior Scientist Award. Nominees may be basic, clinical, or translational investigators. Each Stritch faculty member may nominate one junior and one senior scientist. Self-nomination is allowed.

Selection Criteria
Selection criteria includes scholarly productivity, scholarly service including professional society activities, editorial board and peer-review activities, service to the institution, research funding, mentoring of research trainees, and, for Senior Scientists, mentoring of junior faculty.

If you have any questions, please contact Maria Pelc at mpelc@luc.edu or 708.216.8434.

Sincerely,

Steve A. N. Goldstein, MD, PhD
Dean and Chief Diversity Officer
Stritch School of Medicine

Mitchell Denning, PhD
Interim Vice Dean for Research
Stritch School of Medicine