Message from the Vice Dean for Research, Stritch School of Medicine

Nominations Now Open for Stritch Scientists of the Year Awards for 2017

Dear Faculty,

The Stritch School of Medicine Dean’s Office is accepting nominations for the 2017 Scientists of the Year Awards now through October 16, 2017. The nomination form can be found at http://hsd.luc.edu/research_services/content/stalbertsday/. Completed forms should be sent to Maria Pelc at mpelec@luc.edu.

Eligibility
Assistant professors are eligible for the Junior Scientist Award. Associate and full professors are eligible for the Senior Scientist Award. Nominees may be basic, clinical, or translational investigators. Each Stritch faculty member may nominate one junior and one senior scientist. Self-nomination is allowed.

Selection Criteria
Selection criteria includes scholarly productivity, scholarly service including professional society activities, editorial board and peer-review activities, service to the institution, research funding, mentoring of research trainees, and, for Senior Scientists, mentoring of junior faculty.

If you have any questions, please contact Maria Pelc at mpelec@luc.edu or 708.216.8434.

Sincerely,

Mitchell Denning, PhD
Interim Vice Dean for Research
Stritch School of Medicine
